

Renesas has created a solution for tracking man's best friend. The Pet Activity Monitor is an example how our specific products can receive signals (barking or movement), provide signal integrity, feed information to the MCU, and process data so it can be displayed or read from a PC application

Source